

My Dream Is For Everyone To Win In Life In A Greater Way

© Ronald A. Cooper

My dream is for everyone to win in life in a greater way, regardless of one's circumstances past or present.
Visualize, think, attitudize, believe, and expect clearly winning in life in a greater way, going from one pathway of life to another.
Travel now from the pathways of hopelessness.
Fear of failure, poverty, discouragement.
Peacelessness, insecurity, discontentment, or from whatever less desirable attribute that applies.
To the pathways of hope, the courage to succeed.
Prosperity, encouragement, peace, security, contentment,
and to whatever desirable attribute that applies.
Through exercising proper motivation, focus, positiveness, Patience, persistence, enthusiasm, and pacing oneself moderately as an athlete does in winning a marathon.
Accept the challenge and resolve now to utilize this powerful effective life changing approach which can and will absolutely help us to overcome whatever problems or challenges facing us now and or in the future successfully.
Thus building a better and stronger foundation for our most deserved lives individually, as families, as communities, as states, and as nations.
Thereby genuinely creating a better world.
Therefore, in turn, we will definitely march in the Victory Parade
Throughout this new millennium winning in life in a greater way.

Editor's Choice Award

Presented to

Ronald Cooper

October 2006

For Outstanding Achievement in Poetry

Presented by poetry.com and the International Library of Poetry

Howard Ely
Howard Ely
Managing Editor